

Synthesis characterization and study of some new

Urethane & epoxy resins

A thesis

Submitted to the college of science

University of basrah

In partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of master of science in “chemistry”

By

Raheem j. m. al_akramawe

January 1999

Summary

Crown compound consist of large group of compounds that contain an atom or several donor atoms within the crown cavity such as oxygen, nitrogen and sulfur. the crown compounds might contain one crown ring or several crown rings that are either isolated or joined to bridgehead atom, these are called cryptand.